

Abstract of the Disclosure

[43] Gap diode devices having improved operating stability and enhanced electrode lifetimes are disclosed. The devices contain a material in vapor form between the electrodes, which reduces evaporative losses from the electrode surfaces.